Free To Live TRAINING WEEK

An opportunity for personal growth and transformation

24 – 29 March 2019 Budapest, Hungary With the love of Jesus Christ, we accompany people who have experienced various kinds of abuse or neglect on their journey to healing with empathy and understanding. At the same time we desire to instruct others in this important ministry of restoration.

This training week is for you, if...

- ... You want to grow closer to God and others, developing a heart of compassion by understanding your own heart better.
- ... You want to experience love, care and empathy in the midst of your personal story of disappointment, hurt, rejection, pain or abuse in your life.
- ... You have already gone through this course and want to continue the life-giving transformation you've experienced.
- ... You have already gone through this group-based discipleship course and would like to become a co-leader. In participating as a trainee during this training week, you will be acquiring new skills to share with your faith community in your home country.
- ... You identify with one or more of these statements.

This training is based on biblical and psychological principles that move us toward a framework of safe and healthy interaction. We are most often hurt and wounded in the midst of close personal and/or working relationships. We believe that because we are created in God's image, healing comes in the midst of 'safe relationships'.

This is a unique opportunity to work closely with experienced and trained co-leaders in a small group setting to understand better the things that have influenced your personal story.
